

EmcArts Worksheet: Reducing Constraints on Adaptive Work

What is our complex challenge (a major goal that requires an adaptive response, not a technical fix)?

What is our Radical New Vision in response to the challenge?

What habits of mind form barriers to addressing this challenge?

What can we do differently so we don't default to those behaviors?

What constraints do we bring to considering the challenge?

How do we create a space in which these constraints are relaxed?

What ingrained assumptions are we questioning as no longer accurate?

What are our new, alternative hypotheses?